STACEY BENSON AND SHELLEY PHILLIPS NAMED SAFeworks ILLINOIS DISTRICT MANAGERS

[Champaign, Illinois – February 24, 2009] Central Illinois' leading occupational health services company SafeWorks Illinois has promoted Stacey Benson and Shelley Phillips to District Manager.

Stacey Benson has been named District Manager responsible for SafeWorks Illinois' Champaign operations. Benson, who is also assistant to SafeWorks Illinois' President Dr. David J. Fletcher, MD, MPH, FACOEM, will continue to manage marketing and account management responsibilities. She has been instrumental in the management of the facilities and staff to accommodate the recent growth the Champaign office has experienced.

Shelley Phillips has been promoted to District Manager for SafeWorks Illinois' Decatur office. Phillips is also Mobile Health Services Director managing SafeWorks' Mobile Health Services program that delivers services to clients' workplaces and job sites throughout the country. She will lead the day-to-day management and marketing of the Decatur office.

"Together, Benson and Phillips have 25 years of SafeWorks experience," said Dr. Fletcher. "Having senior management with hands-on experience in all aspects of our business at each location allows us to strategically plan and grow each individual office. Each district manager is able to partner with our customers to provide the services they need to get employees back to work as quickly and safely as possible. And, the closer we can work with our customers, the better we can prescribe prevention programs to minimize the risk of work place injuries."
