

SAFeworks ILLINOIS WELCOMES
ORTHOPEDIC & SPORTS MEDICINE CENTER SURGEONS TO CHAMPAIGN LOCATION

Edward H. Kolb, MD

Lawrence Kuo-Chi Li, MD

[Champaign, Illinois – August 24, 2009] Illinois' leading occupational health services company, SafeWorks Illinois has announced two Orthopedic & Sports Medicine Center surgeons have re-located their Champaign practice to the SafeWorks Illinois Champaign office at 1806 N. Market Street. OSMC will offer a complete range of orthopedic surgical services expanding SafeWorks Illinois' Fast-track services.

SafeWorks Illinois welcomes renowned Orthopedic & Sports Medicine Center physicians Edward H. Kolb, MD and Lawrence Kuo-Chi Li, MD who will provide orthopedic surgical services for the treatment of job-related injuries of bones, joints, ligaments, tendons and muscles which will help get employees back to work as quickly and safely as possible. They will also be treating non-work related orthopedic issues, including sports medicine related problems.

"To help our patients recover, rehabilitate and return to work, we need to make sure they can see experienced physicians with quality services quickly," said David J. Fletcher, MD, MPH, FACOEM, medical director, SafeWorks Illinois. "With Dr. Kolb and Dr. Li's expertise on-site at our Champaign office, we can expand our Fast-track service to include surgical orthopedic services that many of our injured workers need to promote a speedy recovery."

Dr. Edward H. Kolb received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois, Champaign/Urbana and served as his Medical School Class President at Rush Medical College in Chicago. Dr. Kolb performed his Orthopedic Surgery training at Rush in Chicago where he attained honors for his cartilage research. He now focuses on minimally invasive arthroscopic shoulder surgery, knee and hand surgeries. Dr. Kolb has attained 99th percentile in patient satisfaction in both 2007 and 2008. Dr. Kolb has served as team physician for Millikin University and Illinois State University Hockey Team.

Dr. Lawrence Kuo-Chi Li founded Orthopedic & Sports Medicine Center in 1996 after receiving his bachelor's degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) and attending medical school at the University of Rochester. Dr. Li practices general orthopedics, with an emphasis on arthroscopic shoulder surgery, and hand surgery. Dr. Li is a team physician for Millikin University, the Illinois State University Hockey team and an adjunct professor at Illinois State University.

Both Dr. Kolb and Dr. Li are certified by the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery.
